Intro (Astrid)

Good morning, this is my colleague Michael and my name is Astrid and we are here to introduce you to SpiceRack.

SpiceRack provides you with an intuitive user experience that simplifies your spice & herb shopping. SpiceRack is easy to use and visually appealing. With our built-in barcode scanner, you can add your favourite spices & herbs easily to your custom inventory. The custom inventory is a blank slate, you build as you go only tracking the herbs and spices you use.

SpiceRack can also be used as part of your shopping management routine - it enables you to quickly add spices & herbs to a shopping list. It will also automatically add inventory items to your list when they reach zero. Of course ultimate control is given to you. By allowing you to manually modify your shopping list so you can add and remove items, either inventory-based or external products, like break or milk.

SpiceRack can do all of this and look nice and spicy at the same time. SpiceRack comes in a vibrant green palette with a striking yellow text while being surrounded by exactly what we are passionate about - spices and herbs.

User story (Mike)

Firstly I want to ask a few questions, how many of you cook? How many of you have bought spices that you thought you needed only to get home and find them in your cupboard? Nearly everyone I expect will answer yes to these. SpiceRack is a means to eliminate this problem.

Imagine you are in the supermarket buying this week's food. In your head you are thinking about the ingredients you might need for your meals. You then start thinking about spices, what do I need? What do I have? You cannot remember… so you side with caution and you buy everything again only to get home and find that chili powder you just bought will go nicely with the 3 jars you already have.

What SpiceRack wants to give you is an easy way to check your stock of herbs and spices while in the supermarket, stopping you from buying multiples of the same item every time you go shopping. Giving you control over your SpiceRack.

Activities (both)
Astrid
Starting out in the app you will create a user account or log in, transitioning into a homepage that is visually appealing while giving you the controls at hand to manage your own spice inventory.

Moving seamlessly between an inventory page or your shopping list with a swipe of the finger. Inventory management is easy with the integrated barcode scanner. Adding or removing spices to your personal inventory is just a button press away.

Mike
Back on the homescreen, another swipe the other way will show your current shopping list. An easy on the eye interface gives you the ability to check off items as you add them to your shopping basket.

Clearing your list when you are done is just a click away. The editable list will allow you to add items from outside of your inventory.

Once you have finished you can be reassured that your experience of SpiceRack will leave you satisfied that your spices are in safe hands.

Thank you for listening, any questions?